

Privacy Policy

The website nammo.com is owned and operated by Nammo AS, organization number NO 979 984 731 (hereinafter called "Nammo" and referred to as "we"), and is a shared portal for making available information about the Nammo Group and its products.

Acceptance of terms

By visiting and using this website you accept the terms stated below.

Rights

Nammo retains all rights to this website and the contents published here. Content, designs and data on the website are protected pursuant to the Copyright Act and other legislation. Rights to all product and company names, logos and trademarks on the website are owned by Nammo. Content may not be altered, reproduced, published, distributed or in other respects used for public or commercial purposes without permission. Contact Nammo's SVP Communications to obtain such permission.

Responsibility for website content

Nammo is responsible for the content it publishes on the website. We assume no responsibility for inaccuracies and omissions in that content or that it is updated at any given time. We may partially or completely alter or remove content at any time.

Any decision you make as a consequence of the content is at your own risk. Nammo attempts to keep the website secure against breaches, but we cannot guarantee that the website does not contain any malicious content at all times. If you suspect such problems, please e-mail info@nammo.com.

No registration for anonymous visits

If you visit nammo.com, no data will be registered concerning you unless you yourself actively enter such data. Our web servers will only register your IP address to be able to count the number of visits, average time per visit, what pages our visitors read the most, etc. We use these statistics to analyze the use of the website and improve the quality of the content.

Communication with you

Nammo owns the information that is registered via the website and subject to your registration and express consent to receive such content, will send you newsletters, information regarding changes on the website and our products, user surveys or other important notices. You can unregister at any time through a link provided in the email you receive.

Personal data

At nammo.com we treat personal data in accordance with the requirements in the EU's General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

Personal data will not be registered until you submit your request or give your consent to registration. If you want to view our registered personal data concerning you or have it corrected or deleted from our files, you may contact us at privacy@nammo.com. We will not store more data concerning you than the minimum necessary for your relationship with us (such as receiving newsletters, etc)

When you submit personal data to us, we will not use it for any purpose other than the one you consented to at the time of registration. Before you give your consent, we will inform you about what the data will be used for (matters relating to enquiry, newsletters, etc.) and by whom (Nammo).

Any sharing of personal data with other parties will take place within the requirements of the law and only with those parties who perform services for us such as data processors, e.g. in connection with distribution of newsletters. Such access is granted only where necessary, and not for any purpose other than to provide you with the service agreed to.

In addition, we may disclose personal data if we are directed to do so pursuant to law or a court order.

Moreover, we have the right to transfer our customer database, including personal data, to a third party that wholly or in part takes over our operations in an acquisition or partial transfer.

Links

As a service to users of nammo.com, the site includes links to other websites that contain relevant sources of information. Nammo.com does its best to link to bona fide websites. Nammo.com is however not responsible for the content of websites linked to, or the products and services sold there, including any infringements of personal data legislation or other violations of Norwegian law.

Cookies

Nammo.com utilizes "cookies". A cookie is a small text file that is saved on your hard disk by the website you visit. The file contains information and is used, for example, to assist you as a user and for statistical purposes. It poses no risk to you and enables us to provide you with a service that works in the best possible way. In most browsers the function can be switched off by using a menu selection such as "settings", "security" or similar.

The Nammo website uses Google Analytics to collect data about user behavior for analysis purposes. For more information go to: <https://www.google.com/analytics/>

Contact information

For questions regarding editorial content and use, contact Nammo SVP Communications

For questions regarding content as well as privacy protection and correction or deletion of personal data, contact Nammo Group.